Deane Jensen's Early Life & Career

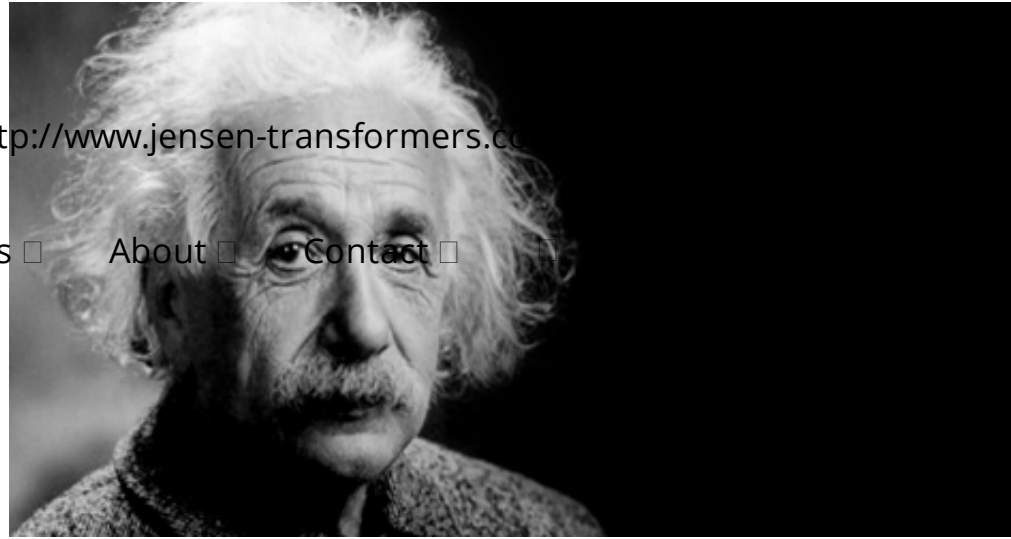

Born in Annapolis, Maryland, in 1942. Deane grew up in Princeton, New Jersey. His Norwegian father, Dr. Arthur S. Jensen, was a physicist who earned his PhD. at University of Pennsylvania in 1941. He became an electronic-imaging expert and was awarded 25 patents, taught physics at the U.S. Naval Academy, and later worked for RCA Laboratories and the Westinghouse Defense and Electronics Center. Deane said he remembered Albert Einstein coming to their home to visit his father.

1961

University of Pennsylvania

Deane majored in physics and electrical engineering at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1961, he was chief studio engineer for WXPB-FM, the school's student-operated FM station. After college, he worked for several broadcasters in Baltimore and Washington DC and three years for RPL recording studio in Camden, New Jersey before deciding to move to Hollywood in December 1966.

1968

Quad-Eight

In September 1968, Deane joined Quad-Eight Sound as a systems engineer, becoming the VP of engineering in 1971. During this time he installed soundboards for Wally Heider Studios (Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, Jefferson Airplane, Van Morrison, Doobie Brothers) and this relationship lead to the opportunity of recording Bob Dylan's live album "Before the Flood".
